Welcome

If you are a newbie (a newcomer) to virtual worlds this book will open up the metaverse and show you the exciting possibilities which are just a click away on your own computer. You'll find a wide variety of virtual spaces, environments, and playgrounds from the very sophisticated, to the quick and simple, just waiting for you to explore.

If you are a pro and long time fan of virtual worlds this book will give you a kind of “one stop shopping” reference to the worlds that are already live and those that are still in the planning and development stages.

If you are a business or an organization this book will show you how others have used virtual worlds in their own branding and may offer you ideas as to the many possible platforms available to bring the virtual enterprise into your own organization.

But above all this book was put together to showcase the amazing worlds already in existence—over 300—for your family entertainment and education, as well as socializing, communication and play.

We hope you find your journey of exploration into virtual worlds rewarding.

About OneClickMoms

What we are about is very simple. We want to bring the best of the web to moms and kids. That's it. Well, maybe not quite....

We know the massive power and reach of the Internet is changing our lives every day and we want to understand, manage, and be part of that change. We want to know what the best, the newest, the most useful online destinations are. We want to click on websites rich in 'news we can use', that reflect family values we believe in, that showcase outstanding products and superlative services and offer us and our families 'curl up and enjoy' entertainment. And because we are information-saturated, technology- overloaded, not to mention super busy and often super stressed about everything from bills to bosses, from security to schooling—we want all this in just One Click!

That's why One Click Moms was created. Our daily Clicks offer singular sites for savvy moms that have been researched and road-tested by our own team of moms, teachers, writers...and even the occasional dad 😊...so the Internet becomes the family-friendly place we all want it to be.

Come and visit...meet our team...sign up for our Daily Clicks... & enjoy!

PART ONE: The next big thing is going virtual

Newbie Glossary

Avatar

“Avatar” comes from Hindu mythology and means the incarnation of a divine being. But in the virtual world an avatar is an icon or representation of a user. So if Sally, Joe and Henry want to get inside a virtual world they first have to create avatars of themselves and those avatars would have virtual world passes.

Cyberspace

The word was invented by sci-fi writer William Gibson in a 1982 story he called Burning Chrome. By the 1990s it became another word for “Internet” and “Web”. So if you’ve been on the Internet or if you’ve surfed the web...guess what...you’ve been in cyberspace.

Metaverse

The Metaverse started as a fictional 3D world of avatars created by author Neal Stephenson in his 1992 sci-fi novel, Snow Crash. Today, many of my friends use the word “metaverse” when they mean virtual worlds, as opposed to universe, or the real world.

MMORPG

MMORPG stands for “massively multiplayer online role playing game”. MMORPGs allow large numbers of players to interact with each other, go on quests, do battle, even live, work and shop in a fictional virtual world. The term was coined by Richard Garriott the creator of Ultima Online.

Virtual world

A virtual world is a computer-based simulated environment, says Wikipedia. Remember the book The Lion, The Witch and The Wardrobe by C.S. Lewis? These kids opened the wardrobe and found themselves in a whole other world called Narnia. Well, you could think of a computer as a 21st century “wardrobe” and virtual worlds as the “Narnia’s” of today. Or how about this way to think about virtual worlds? Web 1.0 the first generation of the Internet was like looking at a picture of a store window. In the second generation of the Internet, Web 2.0, the picture is gone, instead there is the actual window filled objects. Now here is the third generation of the Internet—the virtual web—where you are no longer standing outside the window looking in—but you are now inside, actually inside, the store. Everything is three dimensional—you can touch everything—try everything on—that’s the next big thing on the Internet and it’s here!

Read ME First!

The Categories

One Click Moms strives to offer useful resources for parents interested in virtual worlds.

To organize this particular resource, we have used some commonly used terms, including social network, MMORPG, and virtual world.

Clearly, in this very new and rapidly evolving category, there is not always complete agreement concerning the definitions of each of these terms. Therefore, we have, where possible, adopted the characterization of the website, network, game, or virtual world, made by the owner.

Virtual worlds of course, find their roots in games and, now, MMORPGs. As a result the number of virtual worlds in games is huge. This compilation strives to provide a listing of virtual worlds but not necessarily an exhaustive list of virtual worlds for all games. We have listed some of the most popular games for reference.

We have also added some social networks as there is a clear ‘morphing’ or blending in this new 3D Internet between virtual worlds, online games, and social networks.

There is no question that some will dispute certain characterizations, and we welcome your comments on the terms.

But let’s just say, we have done our best in an emerging field.

Coming

This world is in the planning and/or development stage and has not yet gone live

Live

This world is now live (though perhaps in “beta”)

Kids

Some worlds are designed for children beginning at age 3. Please make sure to visit the world first to determine if it is right for your child.

Tweens

The tweens age group may include young people from ages 10 to 12 or 8 to 12, depending on the site. Please make sure to visit the world first to determine if it is right for your child.

Teens

This is generally a designation for worlds aimed at young people ages 13 to 19, but please visit the world first to determine if it is right for your teenager.

VW

A virtual world in this book is used to describe environments with 3-D elements such as avatars and living spaces.

MMORPG

There are the classic MMORPGs and then there are games which have some, but not all, of the classic characteristics such as quests. In this book any virtual world with some of these characteristics is referred to as a MMORPG.

SocNet

SocNet is our short form for Social Network. We have included the top 10 social networks and occasionally applied that designation to some of the virtual worlds.

Other

Some virtual worlds are designed for mobile phones, some are specialized, as in worlds for schools and/or hospitals. We have tried to indicate any special characteristics of virtual worlds in this category.

The Overlap

Every attempt has been made to be as accurate as possible, however, there is overlap and the determination of the content in virtual worlds is frequently a personal judgment call. Please make sure your visit each world to determine for yourself which category it falls into and if it is appropriate for you or your family.

Updates

Virtual worlds change very quickly. New ones are announced frequently and go from “coming” to “live” in the blink of an eye. So while this book will be updated frequently, please check with each virtual world between editions, to determine if any category changes have occurred. You may also visit www.OneClickMoms.com for a rich and growing archive of information about all these exciting new Internet destinations or visit www.iVinnie.com for updates.

Corrections

Please visit the www.OneClickMoms.com to submit any corrections. We welcome your help in keeping this book as up-to-date and accurate as possible and to that end invite you to send in your own ‘virtual world’ finds.

Stay Safe

Online safety is important. Please learn as much as you can to keep yourself and your family safe online. Here are some sites to get you started: www.govtech.com and www.onguardonline.gov.
